8th Annual Jewish Food & Craft Festival next week

Congregation Beth Israel's Eighth Annual Jewish Food Festival will take place Sunday, October 8, from 10 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. at the Synagogue, 5716 Carmel Valley Road in Carmel Valley. Co-sponsors are KSBW-TV and Classical K-Bach.

The theme for this year's festival is "Return to Anatevka", the imaginary 19th century Russian Jewish village from the stories of Sholem Aleichem, made famous by the musical, "Fiddler on the Roof." The Festival site will be decorated to resemble a village market day, with costumed food vendors, wandering storytellers, and pushcart peddlers.

Visitors will enjoy traditional European foods as well as dishes that emerged from the immigrant experience in America: kugel, latkes, lox and bagels, knishes, matzoh ball soup, rugalach, blintzes, mandel broit, corned beef and pastrami sandwiches, egg creams and more. Picnic seating will be available, and many foods will be packaged for take-out.

The Festival will feature a children's play area, Israeli dancing, and tours of the synagogue including significant works of art and special table settings for the Jewish holidays. The Crafts Faire will feature homemade Judaica from Israel and America.

Admission will be $3 for adults and $1 for teenagers (13-18) and seniors (65 and over). Children 12 and under will be admitted free. All proceeds benefit Congregation Beth Israel's programs and charities.

Visitors may park at Carmel Middle School and take the frequent shuttles to the Festival site.

Supervisors form Valley assessment district

On September 26, 1995 the County Board of Supervisors held a public hearing to consider a proposal to create a new assessment sub-zone for the Carmel River area. Members of the public were invited to attend the hearing and address the proposal.

The proposed sub-zone, originally recommended by the Carmel River Coalition, a citizens' advisory group representing Carmel River flood control issues to the County, would be created under an existing county service area. It would provide expeditious process to create a new source of revenue to

Water District meeting report

By Elizabeth Cowley

The Monterey Peninsula Water Management District (MPWMD) Board of Directors held its regular monthly meeting on Monday, September 18 at the Monterey City Council Chambers.

Bill Hurst, MPWMD General Manager, reported that the New Los Padres Dam (NLPD) public information campaign is progressing. Mr. Hurst said that the first of two informational brochures to MPWMD residents has been sent and that the 7 public forums on the proposed NLPD are underway.

Helen Rucker addressed the Board and said the September 12 public forum on the proposed NLPD in Seaside was vastly under-publicized as evidenced by only 2 attendees. Ms. Rucker said she was "embarrassed and felt like (the MPWMD) was writing Seaside off." Ms. Rucker further demanded that the MPWMD hold another forum in Seaside. The Board said that they would try to better publicize the forums in the future.

David Dillworth, who attended the Seaside public forum, addressed the Board and commented on the hesitancy of the MPWMD staff to respond to oral questions even though there were only 2 people in attendance. He commented that this hesitancy was "symbolic of how the public has been kept out of the process."

Ed Leeper addressed the Board and said the brochure the MPWMD mailed "was in violation of the Brown Act" as "taxpayer money was used for the Board's political purposes." Mr. Leeper said the brochure took an obvious political stance by stating "a yes vote is a favorable vote" and by only listing the benefits and not the drawbacks of the proposed NLPD. Mr. Leeper said he did not feel it was appropriate to spend $30,000 of taxpayer money to prepare and mail politically biased brochures.

The MPWMD was asked to consider allocating 6.25 acre feet of water to each jurisdiction which was expected to be available from the Pebble Beach water

River channel cleaning continues

The Monterey Peninsula Water Management District will continue its annual Carmel River clean-up and channel clearing program through November 1995. Since early July, Water Management District staff and crews from the California Conservation Corps have been clearing trash, flood debris and vegetation from the river channel and off bridge piers. The annual river clean-up and channel clearing activities are conducted in the lower fifteen miles of the Carmel River, from Camp Steffani to the Carmel River lagoon.

Vegetation clearing is planned upstream and downstream of the Esquiline Road Bridge (Rosie's Bridge) in the Carmel Valley Village area between September 25 and October 6. Hand crews will be removing trees and shrubs that may collect flood debris and potentially deflect river flows onto adjacent channel banks. The objective of the channel clearing program is to reduce possible erosion hazards and the loss of streambank property. The clearing program does not involve the removal of sand or gravel bars.

To date, the crews have cleared flood trash and obstructing vegetation from over ten miles of the river bottom. Live vegetation is either chipped or sawed into short sections. Heavy equipment has been used to clear several portions of the river where massive log jams had formed. These jams were caused by large trees swept from the river banks and stacked into huge piles by this year's flood.

The support of over 400 land owners who own property along the Carmel River has been critical to the success of the annual channel clearing program, particularly in the aftermath of the devastating floods suffered in January and March 1995. The district does not remove flood debris or vegetation in the river channel without the written permission of landowners, many of whom have provided river access through their yards for the work crews. To report a river obstruction or a potential erosion hazard, call the Field Office in Carmel Valley Village at 659-2543.

Rancho San Carlos sponsors nature sketching workshops

Naturalist and educator, Clare Walker Leslie, will conduct two nature sketching workshops in Carmel Valley on Saturday, October 28 and Sunday, October 29, presented by the Rancho San Carlos Education Foundation.

An artist, naturalist and educator who lives in Cambridge, Massachusetts, Leslie has published five books. She has a BA in Art History from Carleton College and has studied wildlife drawing and painting with Robert Bateman of Canada, Lars Jonsson and Gunnar Brusewitz of Sweden, John Busby of Scotland, and Dr. Eric Ennion of England.

Leslie has taught and lectured at Middlebury College, Keystone Science School, College of the Atlantic, Williams College, Teton Science School, and the Vermont Institute for Natural Science.

Her Saturday, October 28, class offers an opportunity for anyone interested in learning to draw plants, birds, animals and landscapes. Students will work on quick sketches as well as more detailed drawings, and will have extended amounts of personal instruction. No previous drawing experience is necessary, but a keen interest in nature study is encouraged.

The courses are designed for artists, self-declared naturalists, biologists who want to improve their field observation, classroom teachers, and anyone else who wants to begin observing nature through field sketching. The Saturday session (9 a.m.-5 p.m.) is $45 per person, including lunch and is limited to the first 30 people who enroll.

Sunday's class, October 29, is targeted toward local educators and docents. The workshop will focus on specific nature sketching techniques that may be integrated into the classroom curriculum. The cost is $35 per person, including lunch.

Materials needed for the nature sketching classes include sketchpad, felt tipped pens, smooth surfaced white drawing paper, drawing pencils (#HB, 2B and 3B or any soft drawing pencils), an eraser, pencil sharpener, colored pencils and watercolors (if desired) and a bag to carry materials.

The Rancho San Carlos Education Foundation was established in 1991 to support education and research projects which foster sensitive integration of people and their natural environment in Monterey County.

For further information or to register call the Rancho San Carlos Education Foundation at 648-8236.

Conservation Corps starts hiring

The California Conservation Corps is kicking off its fall hiring campaign, with job opportunities available for young people throughout the state.

The requirements for joining the CCC are few. Applicants must be between the ages of 18 and 23 and California residents; a physical exam is required. Young women are especially encouraged to apply.

"If you're out of high school but haven't yet focus on a career, give the CCC a try," said state CCC Director Al Aramburu. "A lot of our Corps members discover new interested and future job possibilities during the course of their year in the Corps."

Corps members may become part of the residential or non-residential CCC program; CCC centers are located throughout the state, in urban as well as rural areas. Regardless of location, all Corps members tackle a variety of conservation work, including landscaping, tree planting, trail building and park development. When natural disasters such as fires, floods and earthquakes occur, corps members are called upon to help out.

along with the outdoor work, corps members spend several evenings a week furthering their education. They also take classes in career planning.

More than 60,000 young men and women have participated in the CCC since its inception in 1976. Those interested in learning more about the California Conservation Corps should call 1-800-952-JOBS.

VALLEY VOICE

Fran Farina

One of the reasons I left Miami was crime. Beginning in 1980, the combination of the Mariel boatlift from Cuba and the "cocaine cowboys" inundated the area with criminal activity.

Castro emptied his jails and mental institutions and placed these individuals among the 100,000 who wanted political and economic freedom in America. There was no way to identify the good guys from the bad. The only way we learned was as crimes were committed.

The Cuban criminals were particularly vicious. They prayed upon the elderly, particularly those living in south Miami Beach where the average age is 80. It wasn't enough to just rob them of their money. They savagely beat and raped these helpless people. Eventually, most of the criminals were caught, prosecuted and sentenced to jail. My husband was a criminal court judge during this time and the caseload was back breaking. It also affected us personally.

Guns became a major part of our lives. We had guns in the house, guns in the cars, and my husband was even licensed to carry a concealed weapon. What a way to live. Police would come to our house at all hours of the night seeking to have search warrants signed. I had to talk to our neighbors so they understood that this police activity was associated with his work.

The "cocaine cowboys" were even worse. Most of them were associated with South American drug cartels which used Miami as their base of entry for drug smuggling.

The most outrageous event occurred at a suburban mall when these "cowboys" started shooting it out with the FBI. People were diving for cover as if in a combat zone. The gunpower of the druggies was frightening. The federal agents were using handguns against the most sophisticated weapons manufactured. This incident changed the protocol nationally for federal agents.

The drug culture which sprang up around the cowboys impacted on residents' lives. As people became coke and crack users, they needed money to support their habit. The easiest way to get it was to rob people.

My community of Miami Shores was just north of where some of the major crack houses were located. They would drive around looking for easy targets, like someone coming home from grocery shopping or working in the yard.

We mobilized to defend ourselves. As President of the local Chamber of Commerce, I organized our Business Crimewatch program. To protect our neighborhoods, I proposed barricading off some of our streets to cut down on the "cruising" and make it easier for the police to trap the criminals. It was an extremely controversial measure, but it worked.

I knew it was time to leave when one neighbor began wearing a "panic button" to call her security company and another was held up at her front door and had a gun put to her head.

Good news for a lot of people. I will probably be going to jail. I had written to Hillary, thanking her for a reply to another letter, and urging her to go ahead with her visit to China, no matter what.

But, in the meantime, her husband just can't give up his World Policeman campaign in Bosnia. At this writing, 80 of our warplanes are attacking targets in Bosnia, about 8000 miles from Salinas by great circle route. About the same distance away, in the opposite direction, our right wing government, starting in 1956, took many years to get to the point of 80 sorties per day, bombing the Viet Namese, (which we had to do, because their George Washington, Ho Chi Minh, happened to be a communist.)

Actually, I had thought our next target would be Cuba, a dangerous communist country with maybe a third the population of California, a definite threat to our World Famous U.S. National Security.

But, no, we've decided to show off our strength, and tremendous resolve, in the most confused political mess on the whole planet, where three factions seem to derive satisfaction from taking turns killing each other. We, (our administration), couldn't have picked a better place to get Viet Nam II started.

Well, I don't like it, not a bit. I think there is something radically amiss, when we can't find better re-election projects than starting a war. So, I'll be telling our young men to refuse to go, because Bosnia, like Viet Nam, is not, and never was, a threat to U.S. national security. More than enough of our young men have died for nothing. Anyway, I'll probably wind up in jail, as a subversive.

Meanwhile, don't forget to get Junior signed up for the draft as soon as he reaches the magic age of 18.

LETTERS to the Editor

Editor, Carmel Valley Sun:

Whether or not you are in favor of the construction of a dam (the "New Los Padres Water Supply Project"), there is an intriguing question that seems to remain unanswered.

Why is it necessary to have a governmental agency (Monterey Peninsula Water Management District - MPWMD) involved in its funding and construction?

It seems to me that there is a tremendous amount of additional cost associated with having a government bureaucracy fund and build a dam at the same time that a commercial business entity (Cal-Am) has already indicated that it would have to build the project if someone else doesn't. (It was confirmed in the press that all of the permits are transferable to Cal-Am.)

As I understand it, the purpose for the existence of MPWMD would be fulfilled if Cal-Am builds the project. Wouldn't it be less expensive overall if there was no further cost associated with the existence of the Water Management District? Wouldn't Cal-Am do its best to keep the cost of the project to a minimum because it is a private corporation with fiduciary obligations to its shareholders and there are government regulations and oversight provided by the PUC? What benefit does the continued existence of the Water Management District provide that outweighs the additional cost?

If (a) Cal-Am must do the project and (b) Cal-Am can do the project and (c) Cal-Am would do its best to keep the cost of the project to a minimum, doesn't the public vote on November 7, 1995 really boil down to a vote on whether or not an unnecessary layer of government can be abolished and the voters (both pro and con the dam) can save public funds?

Barry Harrow
Carmel Valley

Editor Carmel Valley Sun:

For some time now, I have enjoyed goat cheese made by the Carmel Valley Chevre Goat Cheese people in the Cachagua area of Carmel Valley. Excellent cheese. Wonderful people. Imagine my surprise, then, when a so-called "reliable source" said that the company was "out of business". This same "reliable source" reported that the sheriff had shut down the operation because the owners were dumping whey into the road.

I know the owners to be hard working, honest and conscientious; thus, the rumors were impossible to believe. A personal investigation revealed that (1) Carmel Valley Chevre Goat Cheese, a Grade A facility licensed by the State of California, is still in business, making the delicious cheese for which they are justly celebrated; (2) neither the sheriff nor any other official has "shut down" the operation; and (3) all whey is fed to the goats as part of their diet program -- never has whey been dumped anywhere, much less in the road.

When people start rumors, they play a vicious and dangerous game, one that, in the long run, must boomerang. In the meantime, their lies take a terrible mental, physical and financial toll on their victims. I hope others who may have heard these same rumors now realize that they are lies designed to hurt and/or discredit the innocent.

Inflammatory Water Board Meeting.

You missed the fireworks at the Peninsula Water Board meeting September 18. No one from the media was there.

1) David Pendergerass and other Water Board Directors were surprised, angry and frustrated to learn that the Pebble Beach Reclamation Project has a 250 acre foot shortfall from the 830+ acre feet promised from the project. Several directors described feeling betrayed.

This information came up because the County of Monterey and Mayors of six Peninsula cities went to the Water Board to request an additional 150 acre feet of water to be given out for their respective areas. Thus Pebble Beach Company, Carmel Wastewater, Pebble Beach Community Services and Water District staff had to give an update on where that 150 acre feet might come from. When the meeting began there was little doubt the 150 acre feet would be "allocated".

The Directors also learned how the Pebble Beach golf courses revert to drinking water usage when there is a shortfall of reclaimed water. The only time the golf courses cannot use our drinking water is when there is a declared "Water Supply Emergency".

The Board did not approve giving out the 150 acre feet of water.

2) A complaint was filed with the Fair Political Practices Commission in Sacramento over the Water District's biased campaigning in favor of the Dam. The complaint was filed by "Save Our Peninsula Committee" and signed by Ed Leeper of Monterey.

3) Director Haddad made a motion to give equal funding to opponents to the Dam since the District's campaigning to date was biased and incomplete; how the current mailer presented only selective facts. Several Directors did not understand that it is illegal for the District to campaign either for or against the Dam and argued fiercely in favor of the District's right to campaign.

Eventually a motion was offered to not give any money to opponents of the Dam. Director Heuer asked to amend that to "not spend any money campaigning either for or against the dam." That motion passed.

Re: Rancho San Carlos Development (aka Santa Lucia Preserve)

Rancho San Carlos isn't a preserve, it's a jam.

Preserve: myth: the 18,000 acre preserve will be dedicated all at once - at the beginning.

Fact: Phase 1 of the project only preserves 202 acres. Phase 2 preserves only 267 acres. Can the developer sell out before the other phases and the 18,000 acres are all put in a preserve? Yes. Could this jeopardize the full size of the preserve as touted? Yes. There is no iron clad mitigation to insure any of the preserve ever occurs. Please insure this. Please allow me to urge: dedicate the whole Preserve at once, at the start, to match public perception.

Houses: myth: The Rancho San Carlos Development will only allow 350 houses. 1240 houses could be built under their proposal. (4 x 297 plus 53). Please refer to the EIR page B-76 and B-77.

When the controversial zoning was approved the Developers agreed to limit development to 350 houses total. Monterey County Board of Supervisors Recent reports indicate American business is better and improving steadily. That's the good news. The bad news is the good news has generated a monstrous impulse to overspend. Our country imported $11 billion more than it exported in goods and services in July this year. Imagine what this is doing to our credit balance on the global market.

If you doubt we are connected into the global market, consider the following events. When the Philadelphia branch of the Federal Reserve Bank reported a dramatic increase in manufacturing activity in its area, bond traders figured the Fed probably would not consider another interest rate reduction. So they sold off bonds, which lowered bond prices. As foreign bond investors watched their U.S. bonds lose value, they sold off U.S. dollars and the value of our national currency dropped as a result. In a day. That means the real prices we will pay in U.S. dollars for the goods and services we will import next month will be higher, and the price for borrowing to make those purchases won't be any lower.

As these events were unfolding, our majority leaders in government announced their unwillingness to pass a budget bill any different from the one they are promoting, whatever the consequences. This is exciting news to bond traders, because it offers two possibilities next month: the U.S. Government might not pay its bills, and the U.S. Government might not be able to borrow more money. As long as such issues stay in the family, we can manage. But this is not a family issue: it is a global issue and we stand to lose more from such antics than we will ever be able to regain in trade, in respect, and in credibility.

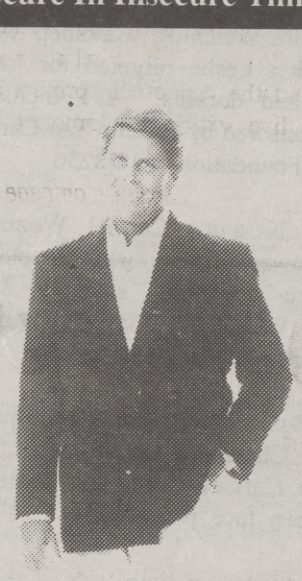
So what?

When bond traders sell off, they take the Dow Jones Averages down with them. These averages reflect the capital wealth of our nation ... our ownership in our future growth as a country. Anyone who invests in American companies will feel the impact of a budget stalemate in Congress, if we are bound to have one. We may find ourselves applauding the business resurgence we have been awaiting for years while investors are selling off our nation's capital value.

#2 In a Series on How To Be Secure In Insecure Times

THIS IS A GOOD TIME TO SELL!

by Rand Smith



We've been hearing a lot about how it's a buyer's market in real estate. There's been a lot of gloom and doom talk and I think it's time to look at the positive aspects of the market.

I'd like to talk about why a buyer's market is good for sellers.

You've heard the rumor: Now's a bad time to try to sell your home, because you'll have to take less for it. Here's the fact: Higher priced homes in Monterey County are not appreciating as fast as they once were, and that's putting them in reach of many more buyers. If your home is in this category and you want to sell, we may have more rather then fewer prospective buyers.

And don't overlook the silver lining in today's real estate market. Interest rates are as low as they've been for years (with the exception of last year). That helps the buyer purchase your home. Many people who were unable to afford a home are now able to buy, thanks to low interest rates, special loan programs and high availability. And that's good for buyers and sellers.

Remember, if you want to sell your home, you are also a buyer . . . of your next home. The buyer's market can work for you, helping to move you into a more spacious home.

By selling your present home now, you can greet the end of the recession living in a larger home with amenities you've always wanted.

NOW'S THE TIME TO MAKE YOUR MOVE in Resolution No. 93-115 imposed what the public perceived to be a total of 350 houses.

The developers now want to allow every house to have a guest house, granny quarters and servants quarters. If this is the case I strongly recommend those auxiliary dwelling units be part of the total 350 houses we were led to believe. This apparently would still consist of 53 affordable income units but would now reduce the "homesites" to about 75. (75 x 4 = 300). Please allow me to urge only 350 total houses (75 homesites) as they promised at the zoning hearings.

Water: myth: There's 200,000 acre feet of water under Rancho San Carlos. Fact: if they had even one tenth that much water, we wouldn't be voting on a Los Padres Dam. The developers drilled 104 wells in the best places. Only half (50 wells) turned up any water. Those 50 wells can't produce anywhere near enough water sustainably. Will there be enough water in the next 50 wells just because the applicant speculates so, lacking any proof?

Best potential wellsites already drilled. The next 50 drilling locations (or next 100 drilling locations since they've had a 50% failure rate so far) cannot be drilled in the best 100 locations, because they've already drilled in the best 100 locations. Fact: Clearly Rancho San Carlos does not have enough water. The EIR on page 8-16 says "Water use for the project does not fall within the safe yield criterion imposed by the Monterey County Board of Supervisors in Resolution No. 93-115..."

Simultaneous pumping was not tested - giving false promise. Warm shower turns cold when toilet flushes. While taking a shower yesterday, someone flushed the toilet in another part of my house. The shower water flow diminished and turned from warm to cold. If all the other water appliances in my house had been turned on at the same time; outside hoses, dishwasher, clothes washer, bath, sinks and toilets; my shower flow would have been reduced significantly more.

The same thing is going on with the water pumping tests at the Ranch. According to the EIR, the water pumping tests were not done at the same time. (EIR page 8-34). All the water pumping tests whose duration is described in "days" as opposed to "hours", combined, only produce a maximum 84 gallons per minute (EIR page 8-25). That's less than a fifth (.19) of a cubic foot per second, or about 11 acre feet per month.

According to the Water District that's about enough for 15-20 houses maximum. That isn't even close to enough for 350 houses, let alone the 1240 houses allowable. And its especially not enough to add a golf course.

Semi-desert. "We do live in a semi-desert". Governor Pete Wilson said this Monday. You can reasonably request that all the wells be pumped simultaneously for 30 days to see what the real drawdown is. This can help establish a realistic sustainable water yield.

Please note that minimum water flow, above and below ground, in this county occurs at exactly the wrong time of year to match the demand of a golf course.

If Rancho San Carlos has enough water, why are they asking the State Water Board to give them more than 12,000 acre feet of water including 6400 acre feet of our Carmel Valley river? (EIR page 2-12). This request for 12,000 acre feet is not just for storage but for use.

Remember how Carmel Valley Ranch promised they had plenty of water, then they came and took our Carmel Valley water. So far there is nothing to prevent this from happening with this development. Please solidly insure this cannot happen.

EIR page 8-22 "Title 22 of the California Administrative Code requires that water supply systems be able to meet the gross water demand on the day of the year with the highest demand rate."

EIR page 8-27 "In spite of the thorough testing program, it remains uncertain whether the yields stated in the Comprehensive Hydrological Study could be achieved reliably on the maximum demand day."

350 "housesites". even without a golf course, appear far too many for the amount of sustainable water available. The EIR describes the water supply as wholly unreliable (EIR page 8-28 and 8-29). Please consult with the County Health Dept. to reduce the total number of houses and the rest of the project so that it can live within the amount of water (plus a safety margin) that is sustainably available. The calculated 75 housesites (350 total houses) suggested by the supervisors' intent during zoning may be a guide.

Please allow me to urge: 1) you request all the wells be pumped simultaneously for 30 days to see what the drawdown is to establish sustainable pumping levels.

2) allow only as many housesites for which there is water (plus a safety margin) sustainably available.

3) forbid hookup to Monterey Peninsula Water District water as was established for the Montera Ranch Project near Monterey. After all the developer claims they have enough water anyway.

Traffic: myth: traffic congestion on Robinson Canyon and Carmel Valley roads won't increase.

Fact: Robinson Canyon traffic will double, quadruple or worse. Currently Robinson Canyon road has 80-140 vehicles per day (EIR page 13-12). The EIR describes how Robinson Canyon road would get 1200+ trips per day if the project is built.

For at least the 130 planned "housing units" on the east side of Robinson Canyon road it is at least 10 minutes quicker to drive to MidValley Safeway using Robinson Canyon than to get to Safeway at Rio road using Rancho San Carlos road. Employee housing is also next to Robinson Canyon road. The developers would have us believe that people will voluntarily take a longer drive than a short cut. This is sheer fantasy. Since the developer isn't responding responsibly on this issue, I urge you to protect the County with strong teeth in your recommendations to reflect the wishes of Monterey County Board of Supervisors in Resolution No. 93-115.

Please allow me to urge: build a bridge over Robinson Canyon road about 200 yards south of Moore Lake over the cut in the hill that Robinson Canyon road goes through. Additionally require gates onto Robinson Canyon road for emergency access and exit only. This will prevent and minimize congestion, accidents and potential liability for Monterey County. The cost would be comparable to the proposed computerized electronic gates.

Golf Course: myth: The golf course is safe and won't use much water. Fact: The golf course would use almost three quarters of the Development's water. Fact: Hundreds of pounds of pesticides will be used on a golf course that drains into the Dam where we get our peninsula drinking water. There is no filter that can take those pesticides out of drinking water. A golf course is a green graveyard. Because of pesticides, insecticides, fungicides nothing lives on a golf course but turfgrass. No birds, no animals, no insects, no microscopic life.

You should know that a study of 87 golf courses by the Attorney General of New York state found 6 of the most common pesticides "are known to be capable of contaminating groundwater after normal applications following label directions" (EIR page B-295). Yet the EIR ignores this entirely. EIR page 9-20 "Assuming that all pesticides are applied in accordance with label instructions, nitrogen pollution is probably the most significant environmental threat ... consequently the balance of this section discusses nitrogen pollution."

I find it hard to swallow (pardon me) pesticides getting into our Monterey Peninsula drinking water. Please allow me to urge: no golf course - just like the EIR recommends.

Clustering: myth: The project "clusters" its house sites. Fact: The house sites are scattered as far apart as possible. If you remember, on the subdivision tour, at the first house site, the developers were even bragging about how far apart the houses were when we couldn't see them through the fog. This does not live up to the intent of Monterey County Board of Supervisor's Resolution No. 93-115. Please allow me to urge: real clustering of house sites - so we don't end up with a swiss cheese preserve.

Keep Rancho San Carlos beautiful and within its resource limits. 1) dedicate the whole preserve at once, at the start; 2) only 350 houses (75 homesites) total, as they promised; 3) build a bridge over Robinson Canyon road, to prevent congestion and accidents; 4) no golf course, just like the EIR recommends; 5) real clustering of house sites, so we don't end up with a swiss cheese preserve.

reclamation plant. The request was made by the Board of Supervisors and the Monterey County Mayors Association. Due to the winter flooding, first year "bugs", and lower than anticipated input, the reclamation plant came up short of its initial projections which came as a surprise to the MPWMD Board.

Director David Pendergrass said that he felt misled and it came as a surprise that the anticipated amount of water was not available and asked what he was supposed to tell his constituents commenting, "Here we are trying to sell a dam in the midst of this" and added "our cities don't have no guarantee."

The $34 million reclamation plant, the financing for which was secured by the Pebble Beach Company, has been in operation for one year. The plant was designed to provide an average of 800 acre feet of reclaimed water to irrigate Pebble Beach golf courses and recreational areas making 800 acre feet of potable water available to the project sponsors, district consumers and for drought reserve.

Mr. Andrews from the Pebble Beach Community Services District and Mr. Stilwell from the Pebble Beach Company told the Board that the plant had come short of the initial projections due to first year fine tuning and because the plant was under water for a period of time during the winter flooding. Mr. Andrews added that the input to the reclamation plant was less than anticipated due to conservation measures resulting in less water to reclaim. Mr. Andrews reminded the Board that it currently had a proposal from the Pebble Beach Company to finance the rebuilding of the Forest Lake Reservoir which could store an additional 400 acre feet of reclaimed water which would help to buffer potential shortfalls in the future.

MPWMD Chair, Fran Farina, said the Board would review the proposal to rebuild the Forest Lake Reservoir and asked for monthly updates on the progress of the plant to avoid future surprises.

In September of 1994, Galante Vineyards in cooperation with several other Cachagua vineyards and the Essalen Tribe sued the MPWMD alleging that the Environmental Impact Report (EIR) for the proposed NLPD was not sufficient and did not satisfy the California Environmental Quality Act. On September 12, 1995 Judge Silver held the hearing for this suit and has 90 days to render a decision. Judge Silver could opt to extend this time frame if he issues a written statement explaining why he requires more time, potentially rendering the decision after the November election to approve the financing for the proposed NLPD.

On September 15, 1995, Mr. Galante filed a separate lawsuit against the MPWMD pertaining to the Final EIR Addendum-2 which was certified by the MPWMD on August 7, 1995. Addendum-2 largely consists of additional construction phase mitigation measures. Mr. Laredo said that another lawsuit was threatened against the Final EIR Addendum-2 on behalf of the Essalen Tribe, but to his knowledge it had not been filed.

At the request of Cal-Am, MPWMD staff met with the Public Utilities Commission (PUC) on August 30, 1995 to discuss public-private financing options for the proposed NLPD. David Laredo, MPWMD attorney, said the PUC gave a "green light to the concept."

Mr. Laredo also reported on a meeting with the SWRCB to discuss the particulars of water flow figures as the July 6, 1995 SWRCB decision, as currently written, does not appear to provide enough water in certain year types. No final conclusions could be drawn from this meeting as Cal-Am has not yet submitted its "action plan". The SWRCB is requiring the action plan to outline how Cal-Am intends to implement the 20% cutback in water production over the next 2 years. The first draft of this plan is expected by October 6, 1995.

The MPWMD Board unanimously approved Ordinance 79 which allows the transfer of commercial water credits within a jurisdiction. The previous rule only allowed commercial to commercial water credit transfers whereas the new ordinance allows the jurisdiction to transfer commercial credits to remodels and residential projects.

The MPWMD will hold its next regular meeting on October 16, at 7:30 pm at the Monterey City Council Chambers; the meeting is open to the public. For more information on special NLPD meetings and public forums, contact the MPWMD at 649-4866.

Water Board

summary

At the August 21, 1995 Board of Directors meeting of the Monterey Peninsula Water Management District second reading and adoption of Ordinances No. 77 and No. 78 occurred.

Ordinance No. 77 authorized staff to issue conditional water permits on September 21. A conditional water permit debits a jurisdiction's allocation prior to final project approval, thereby providing some assurance to all parties involved that a project will have water available when final approvals are received. The request for a conditional water permit from the governing body of the jurisdiction must be accompanied by a signed water release form authorizing the District to debit the projected water use from the jurisdiction's allocation. Conditional water permits will be issued for: (1) projects with an estimated water demand of over one acre foot annually, (2) government projects, and (3) projects with complex financial underwriting (determined by the Board of Directors). Stephanie Lock, 649-2500, can provide further information on item (3).

Ordinance No. 78 setting new water user fees to finance the proposed New Los Padres Water Supply Project and modify collection of existing fees was approved by the Board. It will only take effect if the project is authorized by the electorate on November 7. The ordinance authorizes collection of a new water use fee of 87 cents for each unit (748 gallons) of water used to pay for costs and bonded indebtedness (principal and interest) for the New Los Padres Water Supply Project. If enacted, the water use fee will be collected on each water bill issued on or after January 1, 1996. The Board of Directors could increase the water user fee for each year at a rate not to exceed the annual consumer price index. Only water users in the New Los Padres Project zone of benefit will pay the user fee.

An example of how the fee would be applied to your water bill is shown in the table in this issue of the Sun. Notice that the number of units used multiplied by 87 cents determines the NLP user fee. The increase on the water bill would be based solely on the amount of water used. Those who use fewer units will pay less than those who use more water.

perform selected flood control projects in the Carmel River area.

As approved by the supervisors, the present county service area will not be impacted; funding from the new sub-zone will not be co-mingled with the existing county service area. Creation of a new sub-zone does provide the supervisors a way to meet the urgent needs along the Carmel River.

Supervisors have already authorized the County Water Resources Agency to work with the Carmel River Coalition to develop plans for a larger new flood control zone for the entire river. A larger zone would generate more revenue and would be able to complete more flood protection work.

The Carmel River Coalition has recommended that the new sub-zone include all properties within the Carmel River drainage basin (all properties that drain into the Carmel River or its tributaries). Parcels within the basin would pay a maximum of $10 per year for 10 years.

Three projects have been identified for possible completion using funding from a new sub-zone:

Description of work — Est. Cost

Sandbar removal upstream of Camp Steffani — $50,000

Sandbar removal and overflow channel upstream of Rosie's Bridge — $250,000

The new sub-zone was approved by the supervisors. It is likely that a 10 year limit will be placed on sub-zone assessments. If a larger, more inclusive flood control zone is created in the future, this proposed sub-zone would be dissolved.

Fifth District Supervisor Sam Karas has worked with Carmel Valley residents, fellow Supervisors and County staff to examine the alternatives for rapidly improving flood control protection along the Carmel River. Supervisor Karas stated that, "The County is committed to protecting the lives and property of residents along the Carmel River". Thus far the County, working with Carmel Valley residents and other agencies, has:

- completed construction of a new bridge at Highway 1.
- initiated a debris removal project in the River, coordinated by the MPWMD.
- expanded CSA 50 in the Mission Fields area in order to move forward on a levee improvements to protect the Mission Fields area.
- taken steps to implement the "Nolte" flood control zone for the Carmel River.
- completed a Master 404 Permit Application and submitted it to the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers (COE). An approved 404 Permit will allow property owners and government agencies (such as CSA 74 sub-zone) to complete COE-approved projects in the Carmel River.
- improved neighborhood awareness of flood precautions and actions in a flood event.
- improved the Carmel River flood alert system to enhance accuracy of information and public warning.
- completed agreements with U.S. Department of Agriculture and its Natural Resources Conservation Service to sponsor five flood restoration projects, two of which are on the Carmel River.
